Summary

Data engineer with a wealth of experience in projects of various sizes. My focus lies in web data mining, entry, and analysis using Python and other tools. I take pride in sharing some feedback from satisfied clients:

"Miguel is a very talented and friendly person. We were stuck in a task that was very difficult and complex to execute, we were completely hopeless and were about to drop our project. But this guy found the best solution for us. You can easily say that he thinks outside the box. Hire him, and he will shock you with his skills. 'Highly recommended Freelancer.' Gonna hire you again, Miguel. Thanks."

"Great experience working with Miguel! The task that probably turned out to be a bit more difficult than we had anticipated but he stuck with it and delivered the result I was looking for. Highly recommended!"

I am committed to delivering innovative solutions and exceeding my clients' expectations. Feel free to get in touch if you have a challenging project that requires a creative and effective approach.
